Dear Coral Families,

The first part of this year has gone by so quickly and there are still uncertainties ahead of us. This has been a very challenging school year for our students, parents, teachers, and administration. We hope to have all of our students on campus for in-person instruction as soon as possible, and we are doing everything we can to make this happen while preparing for the health and safety of our students and teachers.

As we reflect on many things for which we are thankful, we want to take this time to thank all of you for being a part of the CASLV Community. Thank you for your support and patience during these difficult times.

We wish you and your families a delightful and happy Thanksgiving!

Warmest Regards,

Ercan Aydogdu
